

Name & email supervisor(s):

Dr Claire Mann / Professor Stephen Timmons

Length and dates of internship:

Summer 2024

Host department:

Faculty of Medicine & Health Sciences, University of Nottingham

How will the internship be conducted:

- ☐ In person at the university
- ☐ Virtual/ from home
- ☒ Both are possible, depending on preference of student

Title internship project:

Occupational Therapists and Clinical Psychologists supporting patients together: Exploring inter-professional relationships in community rehabilitation support

Summary of the internship project: (max 250 words, can include hyperlinks to further information)

The intern would be working as part of the research team on the ROWTATE trial helping people back to work after serious injury. Patients in the trial have been supported by both occupational therapists and clinical psychologists. We are looking for an intern to help us explore the ways these two professions have worked together to support patients back to work.

The role would be an introduction to working on large scale research projects. Significant amounts of data have already been collected including interviews with therapists and patients. The intern would review the literature about interprofessional working in patient rehabilitation, in community work and between different groups. The role would involve analysing qualitative data against the theme of interprofessional working. We aim to write a peer reviewed journal article on this topic and the intern could help as a co-author.

Learning objectives:

- Interprofessional working
- Research skills
- Literature review
- Data analysis
- Writing for publication

Any further information:

www.rowtate.org.uk